Cologne Asked to Push Disaster Area Study Here

Assemblyman Gordon Cologne (R-Riverside) was requested today to push for a continuing study by state agencies of conditions in the sand-blasted housing area east of Palm Springs with a view toward determining whether the region should be declared a disaster area.

The request was made by attorney Saul Ruskin, writing in behalf of another attorney, Charles Montgomery, who has been handling claims of more than 40 residents of the area who charge the Coachella Valley Water District is primarily responsible for the sand damage.

Montgomery, who is on vacation, has threatened to sue the water district for more than $30,000 on behalf of the residents.

Today's letter was in response to a message from Cologne that he could not see his way clear to asking Gov. Edmund G. Brown to declare the region a disaster area.

Ruskin told the legislator that "The winds are continuing to aggravate the damage over an increasingly wider area."

He went on to say that "Several hotels in the area have suffered a complete loss of customary patronage. Occupants of homes most severely affected are seriously contemplating abandonment of their homes in the event the cause of the damage is not abated."

Though Ruskin conceded that on the basis of present information Cologne was "not justified in asking the governor to declare this a disaster area," he urged further study.

The assemblyman was reported by his Indian office to be in Blythe today and was unavailable for comment.

Lightning Sets Off 400 Fires in State

MARIPOSA, Calif. (UPI)—Firefighters who have made headway against a pair of huge Sierra Nevada blazes today had hundreds more fires to worry about.

State forestry officials reported that lightning storms had touched off more than 400 new fires in Northern California. They said that all were small, but warned that "all our forces are committed."

The lightning storm, described as the most severe in recent years, touched off 19 blazes in the Mt. Shasta area alone.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown declared Madera County a disaster area. A killer fire there has burned 43,000 acres, destroyed two towns, taken two lives and forced hundreds of campers to flee.

The blaze was declared contained Thursday night and firefighters were optimistic they could control the fire today. At least 350 U.S. Forest Service personnel out of the total 2,151 men who had been on the fire lines were dispatched to new blazes touched off in the Sierra.

Nearly 200 men were battling a blaze on the Kings River about 12 miles east of Pine Flat Dam which has burned 2,000 acres since it started late Thursday. Sierra National Forest officials were pessimistic about the chances of containing the blaze today. They said because of the steep and rugged terrain ground equipment probably could not be used.

In the historic gold country 40 miles to the north, the news was good. Officials said that a 26,300-acre blaze was expected to be under control today.

The Madera County fire crossed Highway 41, the southern route to Yosemite National Park, Wednesday and forced temporary closing. The highway was opened Thursday.

Williams Told By S. Africa Not to Visit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government of South Africa has informed the United States that a proposed visit by Assistant Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams in August would not be "convenient," the State Department said today.

Williams had hoped to visit there during a tour of African nations this month and next.

The State Department announcement said the South African government "indicated that a later date would be more convenient."

Williams, who is in charge of African affairs for the State Department, incurred criticism earlier this year on a previous visit to several African countries. He had stirred up controversy in South Africa particularly because of a statement then that "Africa should be for Africans."

Williams will, however, on his forthcoming tour visit Angola and Mozambique, two Portuguese colonies. Portugal has been critical of the U.S. attitude toward nationalistic movements in Africa.

Press officer Francis W. Tully Jr. told questioners that the Portuguese government obviously has raised no objections to Williams' visit.

The department's statement said "it had been hoped that Mr. Williams could visit the Republic of South Africa in August. Upon inquiry, however, the government of the Republic of South Africa indicated that a later date would be more convenient."

No future date was set for a possible Williams visit to South Africa, Tully said.

5TH MYSTERY BLAZE HITS SECTION 14

Another fire of undetermined origin struck Section 14 early last evening, destroying a small storage shed containing about $200 worth of clothes at 640 Sage St., firemen reported today.

Both local fire stations responded to a call from an unknown informant at 5:37 p.m. and worked on the blaze for 15 to 20 minutes, according to Fire Marshal Warren Heath.

It was the fifth fire to strike the section in the last three weeks. The causes of four of them are still unknown. Angry residents of the area notified City Council Monday they had organized a shotgun patrol to protect the section against arsonists.

An orderly crowd of about 50 persons watched Thursday's conflagration, Heath said.

The storage shed was owned by Odell Holland and rented by Mrs. R. T. Bowen. The fire marshal theorized that the blaze began in a davenport leaning against the shed and then spread to it.

By the time firemen got the call the structure was a mass of flames.

Heath said he regarded the cause of the blaze as accidental, but added that "we are patrolling the area more than we used to."

The Fire Department's special fire prevention service is available to all residents of the section, he stated.

In the wake of continued fires on Section 14, Joseph M. Jackson, head of the citizen's committee of the section, announced today he was calling a meeting of all residents of the area at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the First Baptist Church, 690 Beech Rd.

Killer Hunt Shifts to Mountains

High Region Scanned As Posse Discovers Trail of New Tracks

TOPONAS, Col. (UPI) — A 150-man posse shifted its hunt for an elusive young killer today to a high mountain area about 17 miles north of where he once had been trapped after gunning four officers.

An Iowa man was listed as the chief suspect.

Two of the gunman's victims, a state patrolman and an undersheriff, died of their wounds. But the other two, a sheriff and a game warden, were recovering in a Denver hospital.

All four were shot by a young man Wednesday.

The posse of armed officers and volunteers, joined by FBI agents, moved into the new area after discovery of fresh tracks in a mountain draw.

In another development, a murder warrant was issued for Delmar Dean Spooner, 25, Storm Lake, Iowa, at Hot Sulphur Springs, Colo., Thursday. The car abandoned after the shootings had been purchased by Spooner at Sioux City, Iowa, and he resembles the hunted man.

The young man was being questioned near Kremmling Wednesday by a state patrol lieutenant, a sheriff and a game warden. He shot them with a .45 automatic while they searched his car.

Committee Sees $500 Million Gain in Revenue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Ways and Means Committee approved today a compromise version of President Kennedy's plan for extending tax withholding to interest and dividends.

Federal income taxes already are withheld on wages and salaries.

The committee estimated that its plan would pick up $537 million of an estimated $834 million in annual tax revenue which is lost through failure of taxpayers to report income from dividends and interest.

Under the plan 16 2-3 per cent of interest and dividends would be withheld by banks or corporations and paid to the U.S. Treasury. The individual saver or investor would receive tax liability. In many cases the taxes withheld would be too great or too small to settle the taxpayer's liability. These taxpayer would get a refund for overpayment at the end of the year or—in filing their returns—would be required to pay additional amounts.

The plan would exempt from the withholding tax anyone who files a statement with the interest or dividend paying bank or corporation declaring that he does not expect to owe any federal income tax at the end of the year. The statement would have to be filed every year.

The House committee Thursday refused to approve Kennedy's proposal to end a tax set-up benefiting stockholders which would have brought the government an additional $450 million in revenue.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Interior Secretary Stewart Udall says the Kennedy administration recognizes "a present and future" of critically short water supply and backs California and other states in steps planned to meet the problem.

"The course of western development has been determined by water conservation projects in the reclamation states," the former Arizona congressman said Thursday night in a talk before the California drought conference. "It will continue to be closely tied to such developments."

Udall forecast an end to the bitter dispute between Arizona and California over the use of Colorado River water.

River Suit

"I am confident that when the Supreme Court puts its final seal on the pending Colorado River lawsuits, we will close ranks and work together to ensure the maximum conservation and highest use of our available water supplies," the secretary said.

Special Supreme Court Master Simon Rifkind last year submitted a controversial report on the water suits and the high court has yet to take final action on the matter.

Udall cited California's $1.75 billion water plan as a major effort to meet future water needs.

"I am here in Los Angeles today to tell you that we in the federal government are four-square behind you in meeting California's dynamic future," Udall said.

"We are pushing with all possible speed the completion of the Trinity Division of the CVP (Central Valley Project). Water already is being stored behind Trinity Dam that previously wasted into the ocean," Udall said. "We are in the final stages of negotiations with your state representatives for the largest single water service contract in all history."

Jessel Settles Out of Court

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Showman George Jessel said today he has reached an out-of-court settlement with an actress who claims he is the father of her unborn child, but that he will not marry her.

Terms of the settlement with Joan Tyler, 27, were not disclosed.

Announcement of the settlement came when Superior Judge Ben Koenig took Miss Tyler's paternity suit off the court calendar.

Neither she nor Jessel was in court.

Cooley Torture Charge Brought

BAKERSFIELD (UPI)—Dist. Atty. Kit Nelson today declared he will prove the slaying of the wife of Donnell (Spade) Cooley was preceded by physical and mental torture.

Nelson made the assertion during his 90 minute opening statement at the start of the prosecution case against the 50-year-old former "King of Western Swing."

The prosecutor said he will prove the murder of Ella Mae Cooley, 37, at the couple's Willow Springs ranch home April 3 was premeditated and deliberate.

ARCHITECTS ASSIGNED FOR NEW JUNIOR HIGH PLANNING

The architectural firm of Wexler and Harrison was named architect for the new Junior High School in Section 11, by the Palm Springs Unified School District board Thursday evening.

No estimate of cost for the projected school, hoped for 1962 occupancy, has been set.

The board, with a three-member quorum remaining after newly-seated member Hardin M. Hart left at 8:15 p.m. to fly to Las Vegas with the Palm Springs Airport Commission for a study of air operations in that resort town, approved the publication budget for 1961-2. The operating budget totals $2,758,457. The board approved a capital funds budget of $2,991,857. On recommendation of the district administration, the board voted to leave an excess from the $1.65 operating tax rate in the general reserve, which may not be used during the year without rebudgeting.

The Soule Painting Co. of Rancho Mirage was awarded a contract for painting the interior and exterior of the Cathedral City school, on a bid of $14,375.

A special meeting will be held Tuesday to consider appointment of a new Palm Springs High School principal.

Painter Jailed On Income Tax

known as J. W. Swartz, a resident of Rancho Mirage, was sentenced to one year in federal prison for failure to file federal income tax returns for the years 1954 and 1955.

Swartz, 42, a well known painter and interior decorator in the Palm Springs area, was indicted by the Federal Grand Jury in Los Angeles for failing to file returns for the years 1954, 1955 and 1956. He entered a plea of guilty on two counts of the indictment. Count three was dismissed.

PS Animal League Suit Brought

INDIO — A suit calling for an accounting of "official conduct" associated with the Animal Protective League, Palm Springs, was filed in Superior Court here today by four early supporters of the organization.

Plaintiffs in the case are Olivia Heath, Eleanor B. Reid, Gladys W. Warren, and James G. Lindsey.

The suit, filed by attorney Leonard A. Bock, named Eugenia Grow, Mary Dunlap, Anthony Burke, Inez M. Boyd, "et al," as defendants.

The suit asks that the defendants be "compelled to account for their official conduct in management and disposition of the property of Corporation One and Two;" and that each "pay to plaintiff or Corporation One or to the receiver thereof who may be appointed herein, any money and the value of any property which they have acquired unto themselves for transfer from Corporation One to Corporation Two, or to others, or lost or wasted by or through any negligence or failure to perform or by other violations of their duties."

Near-Air Crash Report Probed

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—A Navy investigation was under way today into a report two Navy F87 Crusader jets nearly collided with a United Air Lines DC8 jet airliner with 82 persons aboard.

UAL spokesmen said the near collision occurred over Thermal, about 80 miles northeast of here Thursday.

Wife Gone But Not Forgetting

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — A. L. Moragne reported Thursday that when he looked in his dresser drawer for a white shirt he found a penciled note from his wife who is visiting relatives in Florida.

"Where do you think you're going that you need a white shirt?" the note said.

NEWS IN BRIEF

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy was reported today to have found unacceptable an initial Republican compromise offer on foreign aid financing.

This became known after Kennedy met with five Democrats and two Republicans of the House Foreign Affairs Committee on his request for authority to make advance foreign aid commitments for as long as five years and to finance the program from Treasury borrowing.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — The 15th annual cross-country Powder Puff Derby ended officially, and finally today with 27 planes piloted by women fliers at the finish line.

The official time of the end of the race was announced following two unprecedented 24-hour deadline extension.

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John XXIII said today that "the biggest problem of modern times" is to help underdeveloped nations rise from their "permanent state of poverty, misery and hunger."

without violating their national and political rights.

In a sweeping 25,000-word encyclical, the Pope handed down one of the most important documents of the Roman Catholic Church, covering points that ranged from renewed condemnation of communism to approval of greater "socialization" in modern society.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The first leprosy victim in Los Angeles in two years—a 44-year-old native of Mexico—will be taken to the Health Service Leprosarium in Carville, La., it was announced today.

City health commissioners approved the assignment of the man to the colony. It was the first case of leprosy here since 1959, officers said.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New laws may be needed to protect airline passengers against violence by fellow travelers, Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., said today.

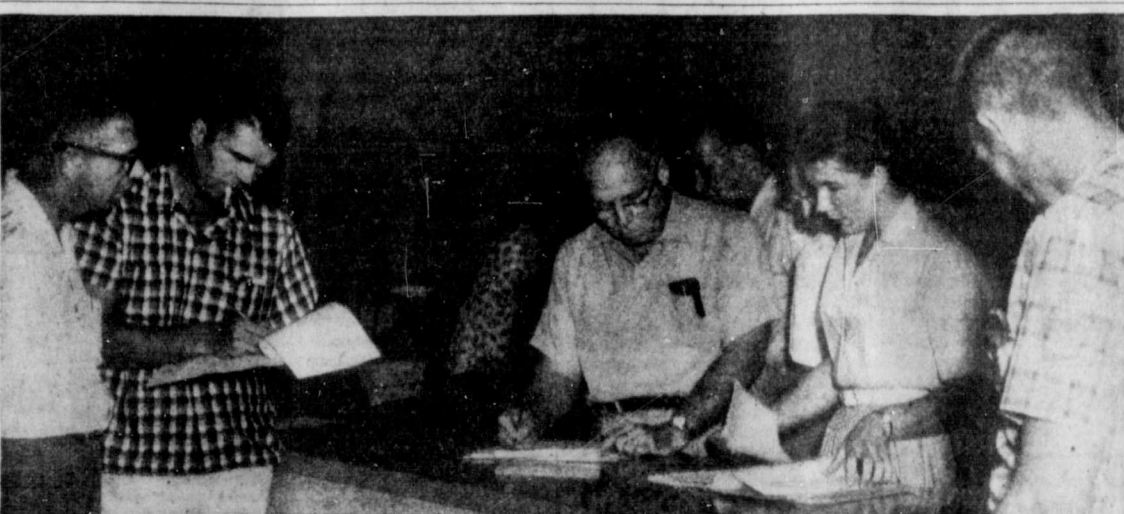

Engle pointed to a gaping hole in federal law which he said came to light July 8 when a 60-year-old passenger pulled a knife on the crew of an airliner bound for Los Angeles. When the plane landed, Engle said, federal and local authorities were unable to find a criminal statute under which the knife-wielder could be arrested.

NEW YORK (UPI) — President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan arrived in New York today from Washington for a Broadway ticker-tape parade.

Later in the day an official city reception will be held in his honor at Grace Mansion. Some 500 hundred guests, including Pakistan officials, city officials, and all foreign consuls in New York, will attend the reception at the official residence of Mayor and Mrs. Robert F. Wagner.

WALLOPS ISLAND, Va. (UPI) — The civilian space agency successfully launched today a rocket which touched off a series of explosions in the upper atmosphere like a Fourth of July rocket in a meteorological experiment.

SHIRLEY HENRY, city clerk, reads out the bids on the North Palm Canyon Drive development project in City Hall Thursday while City Finance Director Shelby Langford takes down the figures. Dan Wagner, city manager, stands in the background and other officials and contractors look on. Low bid was by E. L. Yeager Co. of Riverside at $494,789.50. (Desert Sun Photo)

Improvement Program In Housing Submitted

Submission of a program for community improvement, made in support of the city's application for federal aid in relocation housing for persons to be moved from portions of Section 14, marked a major step toward solving the problems of displacement, caused by area development.

Biggest factor in the displacement of residents from the southwest quarter of Section 14 is a development program by the Indian owners of the land. The land, owned by members of the Agua Caliente Band of Mission Indians, and held in trusteeship by the federal government, had been limited until 1955 to a five-year lease. Later, additional lease extensions have made possible long range usage of the prime land in the center of this famed desert resort.

Because of these restrictions, the entire section returned only approximately eight-tenths of one percent of its estimated $14 million 1957 value. Now, with long-term leases, the Indians and their conservators, working with the Bureau of Indian Affairs, seeks to clear the strategic southwest corner of the section for commercial use.

An estimated 100 persons are thought eligible for Section 221 relocation housing aid under the Federal Housing Administration program. This section, administered by the Housing and Home Finance Agency, provides for insurance of mortgage loans in the event of urban renewal, a program for community improvement, or relocation through governmental action or disaster redevelopment.

A special committee, headed by Mayor Frank Bogert, has been named to work on minority housing problems connected with the Section 14 relocations. Committee members: Joseph Jackson, Beron

Abner, Cecilia Abner, Rev. Jeff Rollins, Jack Powell, Roy C. Rightmire, May Ann Pedford, Ray Jackson and Judge Eugene Theriault, will perform four functions. The group will inform the community as a whole of the substandard housing conditions existing in Section 14, and of the community improvement program; inform the community and the people to be relocated about the assistance available under Section 221; assist families to be relocated by abatement of substandard housing or other action to find suitable and adequate housing within their price range; and provide communication between the people concerned, the Indian Bureau and responsible departments of the city of Palm Springs.

Ray W. Jackson, director of the Palm Springs office of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, advised the city planning department on May 3 that "the tentative date for completion of this removal project is June 30, 1961; consequently, time is of the essence." Jackson had explained that the individual Indian allottees, court appointed guardians and conservators, in concert with the Bureau, had determined "that all residential buildings must be removed from the SW 1/4 of Section 14 to permit redevelopment for its highest and best use." The removal date has now been set to Jan. 1, 1962.

$200 Down

The 221 FHA housing eligibility sought by the city for the 100 qualifying families on Section 14 provides 100 per cent financing, with only $200 down payment — which may be used for closing costs — by the individual purchasers. Eligibility, once established, goes with the persons being removed from Section 14, and is not vested in the city for construction of housing. A city spokesman explained that all standards of FHA are met under the loan provisions. A proposed development within and adjacent to Palm Springs' city limits which was denied by the planning commission was turned down on advice of an FHA representative who termed the plans unsuitable for the governmentally insured financing, the city aide reported.

The city's community improvement program is much broader than the Section 14 relocation problem. The City Council adopted a seven-point police for the program July 11, including the use of the long range general plan as a "guide for the current and future development of the City." The guide will be "reviewed periodically and kept up-to-date." A Citizens' Advisory Committee has been appointed to inform the entire community about the program.

Included in the city plans applicable to the city development are a land use plan, a major thoroughfare plan, community facilities plan; public improvements plan; zoning ordinance and subdivision regulations. In addition, the city has a uniform building, plumbing and electrical code. A uniform housing code is planned for adoption in Jan. 1962.

As Palm Springs builds for the future, it is working for adequate housing for all its citizens.

Jackie to Spend Summer at Coast

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy and his wife hoped to leave today for Hyannis Port, Mass., where the First Lady and their two children will spend the rest of the summer.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said the Kennedys hoped to get off late today by helicopter. But he said there was a chance the President might be delayed by business until Saturday.

Kennedy will return Monday, but Mrs. Kennedy, 3-year-old Caroline and 8-month-old John Jr. will remain at the Kennedy home on Cape Cod until late August.

Her press secretary Pamela Turnure, said the First Lady "plans to get some rest" with her children while the White House is undergoing several minor changes of decoration.

Salinger said Mrs. Kennedy also may visit her mother, Mrs. Hugh Auchincloss, at New, R. I. There have been reports that if she does go to Rhode Island, the President also will visit there briefly.

But until Congress adjourns Kennedy was expected to confine his visiting to weekends at Hyannis Port, where he has spent the past two weekends.

Respects Paid A. C. Faulkner

Arthur C. Faulkner, 58, of 39-556 Peterson Road, Cathedral City, who died Tuesday at Desert Hospital following a long illness, is lying in state today at the Wiefels and Sons chapel here.

Faulkner came to the Palm Springs area 15 years ago from Cincinnati. Survivors include his wife, Jean, a son, Donald of Cathedral City, and his mother, Mary, of Cincinnati.

RR Giants in Battle For Western Pacific Control

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Two railroad giants, once accustomed to fighting their battles with bullets, are pitting batteries of lawyers against each other for control of a third, the Western Pacific.

The rivals are the Southern Pacific, the nation's biggest railroad money-maker, and the Santa Fe, which already has 13,600 miles of track.

The history of each is a story of gunfights with Indians and settlers, bombings, cyclones, land booms and wild stock speculations.

The present object of their desire, the Western Pacific, is a financially-sound line 1,189 miles long.

But the WP happens to be a connecting link in the transcontinental Overland Route through the Utah gateway. It also is a link over the Bieber route for north-south traffic on the Pacific coast.

For this prize, the Santa Fe and the SP have sent squads of speakers into every sizable city in the area to win public support.

Over 2,000 civic groups, boards of supervisors, labor organizations, hiping associations and farm groups have taken stands before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The ICC will begin hearings here Monday to decide who will get the prize. It is expected to consider the views of several eastern railroads, at least eight state utility commissions, and the U.S. Justice and Agriculture departments.

Both the Western Pacific and the Santa Fe originally came into California to break monopolies of the Southern Pacific.

The SP, tabbed "The Octopus" by novelist Frank Norris, had dominated California politics for decades. At one time, it cost more to ship a keg of nails by SP within the state than by boat from New York to San Francisco.

The opening of the WP in 1909 was marked by riotous civic celebrations.

Dispute Began Last Year

Since then, the WP has interchanged its freight cars with the Santa Fe and the Great Northern over east-west and north-south routes competing with roughly parallel Southern Pacific tracks.

The present dispute broke out last October when SP disclosed it had acquired 10 per cent of WP's stock and that it would seek control.

Within 13 days, Santa Fe bought up 20 per cent of the stock and angrily announced it, too, would seek control rather than see the WP taken over by SP.

The war was on. But neither side can prevail without the permission of the ICC.

Brunette Beauty Selected As U. S. Entrant

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — A lithe Louisiana brunette with devilish eyes and clowning ways took over the Miss U.S.A. beauty crown today with a chance to become Miss Universe.

"It must all be a dream," drawled 18-year-old Sharon Rene Brown of Minden, La.

"A thousand dollars, too? I declare. I just haven't had time to think of it all. I can't believe it."

The dark-eyed "Miss Louisiana" was picked from among 15 Miss U.S.A. semi-finalists Thursday night at the Miss Universe pageant.

She will strut with 47 foreign entrants tonight and is all but a cinch to be among the 15 semi-finalists judges will choose for Saturday night's selection of Miss Universe.

'I Had To,' Says Eichmann

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Adolf Eichmann, tired and shaken after six days of relentless cross-examination, today admitted that he passed on orders for Jews to be exterminated.

"But I had to," he said wearily. Eichmann seemed to have little fight left in him at today's session of his trial for masterminding the slaughter of six million Jews during World War II. But he heatedly denied that he ever suggested shooting 1,200 Serbian Jews for whom there was no room in Nazi concentration camps.

He charged Franz Rademacher, former Jewish affairs expert in the Nazi Foreign Office, had forged an official document indicating Eichmann made the proposal.

Witness Tells Paying $2,300 To Get Infant

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A witness testified Thursday at the trial of two Los Angeles men accused of operating a "black market" baby adoption business that he paid one $2,300 to adopt a girl in August 1959.

Norton Anenberg of La Habra testified he first talked with Dr. Aaron Lax, 48, and was informed a large number of persons already had applied for babies. He said he was told it would take a year "more or less" to adopt a baby. "He said there would be some (questions on legal problems) and that I would be in contact with an attorney," Anenberg continued. He testified he later was introduced to the second defendant, Attorney Ralph R. Benson.

The witness claimed Lax informed him the girl would cost $2,300 of which $600 was to be paid by check and the remainder in cash. He said Lax told him the money was needed for medical and attorney expenses and for the child's natural mother.

Weather Threatens Delay Of 2nd U. S. Space Shot

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—Bad weather in the middle of the Atlantic Ocean is threatening U. S. plans to rocket another man into space next Tuesday.

Scientists running the nation's $400 million "Project Mercury" astronaut program were keeping a close watch today on an area of thundershowers about 200 miles east of the Lesser Antilles.

The "weak to moderate easterly wave" was reported moving westward early today. A more northerly course might carry it east of Grand Bahama Island—into the spot where the astronaut's capsule would plunge into the sea.

"Our fellows are definitely keeping an eye on it," said one spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. "But it looks right now like it's much too early to say what might happen."

If the shot goes as planned, a Redstone rocket will hurl one of two astronauts—Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn or Air Force Capt. Virgil I. Grissom—about 115 miles into space and 300 miles over the Atlantic on a southeast course from Cape Canaveral.

Scientists want a "cloud cover" of no more than three-tenths and waves no higher than about four feet in the target area, although one official said this "is a general thing, subject to some variations."

The space agency's new Tiro III weather satellite, fired into orbit from here Wednesday, provided scientists with some encouragement about the weather situation.

The satellite was supposed to get more pictures over the area today.

Cohen Denied Marriage Okay

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Ex-Gambler Mickey Cohen Thursday was denied permission to marry his 19-year-old girl friend before serving a 15-year term in federal prison for income tax evasion.

Attorney Jack Dahlstrom said he was notified James B. Bennett, director of the U.S. Bureau of Prisons, rejected a request for authorization of the marriage before Cohen goes to prison. Bennett gave no reason for denying the Cohen plea to wed model Sandra Hagen.

Cohen, 47, was convicted June 30 of eight counts of tax evasion and other charges dating back to the time he was an admitted Southern California gambling czar. He was sentenced July 1 to 15 years in prison and a fine of $30,000.

THOMAS J. BRADLEY, Palm Springs District fieldman - analyst for the California Water and Telephone Co., has been transferred to the Telephone Division Offices, Monrovia, J. C. Newman, district manager, announced. While in Palm Springs he served as treasurer of the Camp Fire Girls, assistant Cubmaster and on the voters' assembly of Our Savior's Lutheran Church.

House Group Blocks Repeal of Tax Break

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy's plea for repeal of the special tax advantage which stockholders have enjoyed for the past seven years was rejected today by the House Ways Means Committee.

The committee—without the formality of a vote—spurned the President's proposal to boost income taxes on stockholder dividends to the same level as those on wages, salaries, and other earned income.

The administration still had hope, however, of winning committee approval of its proposal to impose withholding taxes on dividends and interest. Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon suggested a compromise at a closed door hearing today.

Under existing law, no federal income tax is levied on the first $50 a year in dividend income or $100 in the case of married couples filing joint returns. Moreover, the tax rate is 4 per cent lower on all dividends above that amount, ranging from 16 to 87 per cent instead of the 20 to 91 per cent rate on earned income.

SOBLEN MUST WAIT TO LEARN HIS FATE

NEW YORK (UPI)—Cancer-stricken Dr. Robert Soblen, convicted of the capital crime of wartime spying for Russia, goes back to Federal Court today. But he must wait possibly weeks to learn if he will be sentenced to the electric chair.

Soblen, brother of admitted spy Jack Sobel, was convicted Thursday on two counts of conspiracy to commit espionage. The maximum penalty is death.

The hearing called by Judge William B. Herlands for today will decide only when sentence will be passed and whether the 60-year-old psychiatrist can go free on bail. The government wants bail set at $100,000 if Soblen is released.

A federal court jury of 10 men and two women took one hour and 20 minutes Thursday to convict Soblen after a four-week trial.

Brother Was Witness

Soblen — he spells his name without the "n" — was the government's chief witness against his elder brother, testifying that they were recruited into espionage by the late Soviet secret police chief Lavrenti Beria in 1940.

The jury did not recommend mercy. But Soblen's attorney, Joseph Brill, said any sentence of more than six months "will be more or less academic" because of Soblen's worsening condition under the effects of incurable lymphatic leukemia. Soblen has been given nine months to a year to live.

Soblen, who spent most of the trial curled up on a special contour chair while he gulped a great many pills, was held in the Federal House of Detention Thursday night.

When the jury foreman announced the verdict, Soblen slumped back in his chair, closed his eyes and cradled his head in his left hand. Brill said his client

Cadets Attend Summer School at Elsinore Military Academy

Attending summer sessions at Elsinore Naval and Military School are Cadets Richard and Robert Paine, sons of the Orval Paines, of Horizon Trailer Village; Cadet Joseph Ingram, son of Mrs. Betty Luce of San Joaquin Drive; and Cadet Eugene Chipper Logan, son of Mrs. Theta Logan of Desert Lanai.

At summer sessions the cadets will put in four hours a day at the three R's, and the rest of their time will be devoted to the big R—recreation. This schedule will offer the boys summer fun and a head start on fall studies.

Among field trips planned for the Cadets are visits to Disneyland, Marineland, the Salton Sea, and hiking trips into the Ortega Mountains.

Sports are abundant, with a baseball school being formed to instruct the boys in fielding and hitting, horseback riding instruction, swimming meets, tennis matches, horseshoe matches and pool tournaments.

Cadets working at Lake Tahoe this summer are Larry Williams, son of Mrs. June Williams of Canyon Place, and Larry Larstead, son of Mrs. Florence Larstead of Cathedral City.

Cadet Jerry Dowdall, of Desert Hot Springs, is spending a leisurely summer with his father.

JESSIE BAUMGARDNER will wed Earl Smoke in Las Vegas on July 22.

Wedding Vows to Be Said in Las Vegas

In a Las Vegas chapel, Mrs. Jessie Baumgardner of Lilianna Drive will exchange marriage vows with Earl J. Smoke of San Diego, on July 22.

Present at the informal ceremony will be the bride-to-be's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Gregson of Miami, who are now visiting in Palm Springs. Also, the prospective groom's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Smoke of Anaheim.

Following a honeymoon at the Sahara Hotel, the couple will make their home in Palm Springs and San Diego.

A Villager for the past four years, Mrs. Baumgardner is active in AVCCF (she's chairman of the Pink Carnation Ball to be held at El Mirador in December) and the Palm Springs Women's Club. She is a member of the Tennis and Ranch Clubs.

Smoke is a retired Naval officer.

Birth Announced by Grandmother

A proud grandmother, Mrs. Helen Reichle, of Los Angeles, wishes to announce that her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Reichle of San Diego Drive, have a new son and heir, Kenneth Roger.

Kenneth Roger was born at Desert Hospital on July 8 and weighed in at five pounds, 12 ounces.

The new mother is now at home with her husband, a driver for United Parcel Service, and three-year-old daughter, Deborah Ann.

At Home With Edie Lusby

By SUE RAYMOND

Hailing from Peach Tree St., Atlanta, is Edie Lusby who says that after her southern exposure, she can't get used to the one-story homes on the desert. But, our one-storied desert proved to be a good thing for her, when, while vacationing here 12 years ago, she met and married insurance man Ray Lusby.

When she told me she had worked for Ray after they were married, I asked if she had an insurance license. Her reply was negative and followed by an emphatic, "I'm not even a good secretary!" Ray may have different ideas on that subject, but nevertheless, he gave up his office wife when their daughter Angela (now 9) was born.

For their second daughter, two and one-half, Edie came up with the unusual name of Allison. She doesn't know where she got the name, but she knows that she didn't get it from "Peyton Place."

Having children six years apart has been no trouble for Edie. As a matter of fact, she thinks it's a healthy situation. Each child has her own group of friends and interests, and there is no jealousy or rivalry between the two children. While Allison is home playing with her poodle, Pierre, and being mother's little helper, Angela is out most of the day (she takes ballet and piano lessons and is an active Brownie).

The Lusby's believe in entertaining on the "family plan." Summer is a time to be with your children, says Edie. They often have poolside barbecues and invite whole families. With the family picture complete, they have a complete evening of fun.

Their outdoor parties are more often than topped off with homemade ice cream, with the secret ingredient of elbow grease. A modern wife, Edie bought Ray an electric freezer for his birthday one year. An old-fashioned husband, Ray immediately returned it. Seems he didn't want the easy-way-out.

To remove excess salt from soup, add whole potatoes. They absorb salt while boiling.

Homemade ice cream is a rarity in itself, but do you know any-one with strawberry patches in their back yard. You do now! The Lusby's have three patches, and so could you with little or no trouble. Simply plant your berries in six inch holes with the roots hanging free, and cover with earth. Start more patches with your runners. Plant in the winter and succulent berries will burst forth in the spring. They seem to flourish on the desert.

Following is Edie's recipe for French Strawberry Ice Cream (which she says is very rich and they can only enjoy on weekends, after dieting all week).

Scald two cups milk. Mix 1/2 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt and four lightly beaten egg yolks. Stir this mixture into the scalded milk. Cook in a double boiler until mixture coats the spoon. Cool, strain, and add two cups of thin cream and one teaspoon of vanilla. When almost frozen, add one box crushed strawberries (from your own patches).

Edie held the initial meeting of the Palm Springs Auxiliary of AVCCF in her Sunrise Way home, and is its first life member. She is also active in the Caluilla P.T.A., the Palm Springs Women's Club and the Desert Hospital Auxiliary.

Her hobbies include short story writing and piano playing. When the children are older, she would like to devote more time to her writing, and perhaps turn a hobby into a profession.

Pre-Palm Springs, she worked as a copy writer and in sales for a radio station, and as a hair-dresser's model (with her pretty, blonde hair, she could still make a living this way).

What of the future? Ray and Edie often daydream of a time when they can live in Kentucky, in a two-story Colonial-type home and raise horses.

Anne Janiuk at Silver Seminar

Anne Janiuk, area manager of the Fine Arts Sterling Silver Co., has returned to her Park Drive home, after attending a three-day Fine Arts Seminar held at the Shoreham Hotel in Washington, D.C. Mixing business with pleasure, she continued her travels for two weeks by flying to Detroit to visit her sister and brother and their families, and then on to Leamington, Ontario, Canada to be with her mother and father.

Upon her return home, Anne noted that time spent in air travel has become almost negligible.

Leaving Detroit at 10 a.m., she jetted to Los Angeles and was home in time to prepare dinner and watch a baseball game.

Bridge, Lunch Enjoyed at North Shore

Two bridge parties were held recently at North Shore Beach and Yacht Club.

A ship theme was carried out, when the Imperial Valley Bridge Players gathered for cocktails, a buffet luncheon and cards. Ship-shape were the tallies and place cards on 30 tables, and the buffet table was centered with a large ship bursting with spring flowers. Hostesses for the day were Mmes. Howard Foster, Dan Cameron, Allen Griffin, Walter Rutherford, Ronnie Swedtfeger, and Frances Hudson.

Boats, hubbles and bridge, were the focal points of another gay gathering of gals for a luncheon bridge, hostess by Mrs. R. T. Pierson of Palm Desert.

Large multi-colored glass bubbles were used as centerpieces on the six tables, with sail boat place cards and tallies.

Following luncheon and cocktails, bridge was enjoyed all afternoon.

Los Compadres Have Active Month of July

Los Compadres cocktail and swim party, held at Bob Hoff's home last Sunday, was such a success that the group scheduled another of the same for this Sunday. Again, it will be held at 590 Indian Trail, from 5 to 8 p.m.

The Jimmy Coopers, who enjoyed themselves thoroughly at the Hoff Hacienda, have offered their home for a bring-your-own-steak dinner on July 23. Cocktails will be served at 5 p.m. Reservations may be made by calling Shirley at 328-2593, or Jane at 325-6539.

On the business side, Los Compadres will hold an important meeting at the clubhouse on July 25 at 8 p.m. At this meeting, a complete semi-annual financial report will be given.

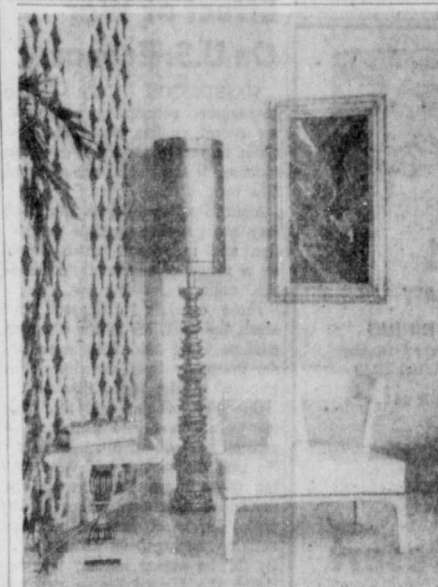

No activities have been planned for the month of August.

Before laundering a wool sweater, trace its outline on the napped backing of a discarded plastic tablecloth. After washing and rinsing, blot the sweater in a towel, spread it over the plastic, and smooth it to fit the outline. The plastic can be used repeatedly.

Mysteries of Desert Lizard Life Probed

By PEYTON CANARY
Sun Staff Writer

PALM DESERT — The climate control of diposaurus will soon be recorded for scientists to ponder, thanks to a pair of young researchers here from cool Michigan.

Calvin DeWitt, working on his doctorate at the University of Michigan, and his wife, Ruth, are gleaning the facts of the giant white lizard from a well-wired observation post between El Paseo and Abrea Streets.

"We want to know about the effect of environment on the behavior of the white lizard," DeWitt told The Desert Sun. A major matter of the environment is daily heat. The white lizards pant feverishly in 105 degree heat, and are killed by temperatures of approximately 110 degrees.

They have to maintain a close balance of temperatures in the summer, because cold-blooded animals assume the heat of their surroundings," DeWitt said.

"We banded 47 lizards in this immediate area, and we watch them," Mrs. DeWitt, a science teacher said. "We caught the lizards with fishing poles," she added.

Forays Tracked

With the lizards marked, their movements in morning and late afternoon forays for food are tracked by visual observation, and charted on a plane table. Using switches from an airplane control mechanism, DeWitt synchronized movement of one observation table with the other, to provide close control for mapping.

Precise records of the air temperature, ground temperature and sub-surface temperatures in known lizard burrows are maintained through a series of thermal couples which transmit information through a mixer box into an electric printer.

"The printer records the number of a fixed spot at the appropriate temperature figure," DeWitt said. The machine is arranged to print samples to a maximum of 20 minutes, in five minute increments. Ground temperatures have topped 130 degrees.

White lizards like to maintain a body temperature of approximately 100 degrees Fahrenheit. DeWitt determined the animals preferred temperatures through observations in controlled runways at the University of Michigan, where they have 150 of the lizards for lab study.

Reasons Probed

"One thing we hope to discover—and these studies may help—is why the lizards go into estivation—restricted activity—and then hibernation on the schedule they follow," DeWitt explained. The lizards will retreat into their burrows in late August or early September, while the desert sun blazes warmly. In lab conditions, they don't follow the pattern at all when their temperatures are kept up to near desert levels.

"Being cold-blooded, they can live on very little, and get all the moisture they need from eating what look like mighty dry plants," DeWitt said. The white lizards can be taught to drink but "it seems to baffle them when they first see water," he explained.

Mrs. DeWitt, a high school teacher and close field aide to her researching husband, classed diposaurus as "nice to work with." The little animals are non-poisonous, don't bite, and are relatively unafraid of humans.

The white lizard study here is financed by a National Science Foundation grant. Equipment used in the field, including a truck equipped with two generators and a water tank, plus home trailer, are provided by the University of California, Riverside. The truck and trailer, on permanent loan from the California Institute of Technology, is stationed at Deep Canyon near here.

'Bunny Calling'

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — University of Minnesota biologists are experimenting with radio-equipped rabbits.

A cottontail rabbit has been equipped with a tiny transmitter, weighing less than an ounce and enclosed in a plastic collar. Signals from the transmitter will enable scientists to follow the bunny's movements. Eventually, a research team hopes to develop a transmitter to relay information on the animal's reactions to changes in environment. Success would mean that wild life could be studied without the disturbing presence of a human being.

Strafing of Rommel Car Changed History

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst

In the early evening of July 17, 1944, on a road in Normandy, two Allied dive bombers swept in at low level to strafe a German command car racing for the shelter of a nearby grove of trees.

That single action almost exactly 17 years ago may have changed the course of history.

For in the car was Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, one of Hitler's most celebrated commanders and the man the British called "the desert fox" out of respect for his brilliant tactics in the Africa campaign.

The dive bombers' first strafing run wounded Rommel's driver and sent the car spinning out of control into a tree stump. Rommel, hurled from the car by the impact, lay unconscious on the pavement, the left side of his face crushed and his skull fractured.

Medical Research

Now, as result of the curiosity and years-long research of Dr. Richard A. Davis of the University of Pennsylvania school of medicine, can be told for the first time the full account of Rommel's injury, medical history, recovery and death.

PALM DESERT

For historians it is important for Rommel's link with the German generals' plot against Hitler.

As Davis moves into his account he notes:

"The third week of July, 1944, was not only a critical one from the military standpoint, but if the Allied high command could have 'looked on the other side of the hill' and been fully aware of the German generals' revolt and the attempted assassination of Adolf Hitler, then the near-fatal injury of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel becomes almost a classical act of tragic fate."

For the generals had decided the best man to lead the revolt would be Rommel.

Davis' account moves from the farmhouse where a village pharmacist treated the unconscious Rommel on a dining room table, through the hospital where he gradually recovered and on to his home near Stuttgart for final recuperation.

In September, the Rommel family learned they were under watch of the Gestapo. Friends warned Rommel that he was suspected of being an accomplice in the bomb plot against Hitler.

The climax came at noon, Oct. 14. Generals Wilhelm Burgdorff and Ernest Maisel arrived at Rommel's home and accused him directly.

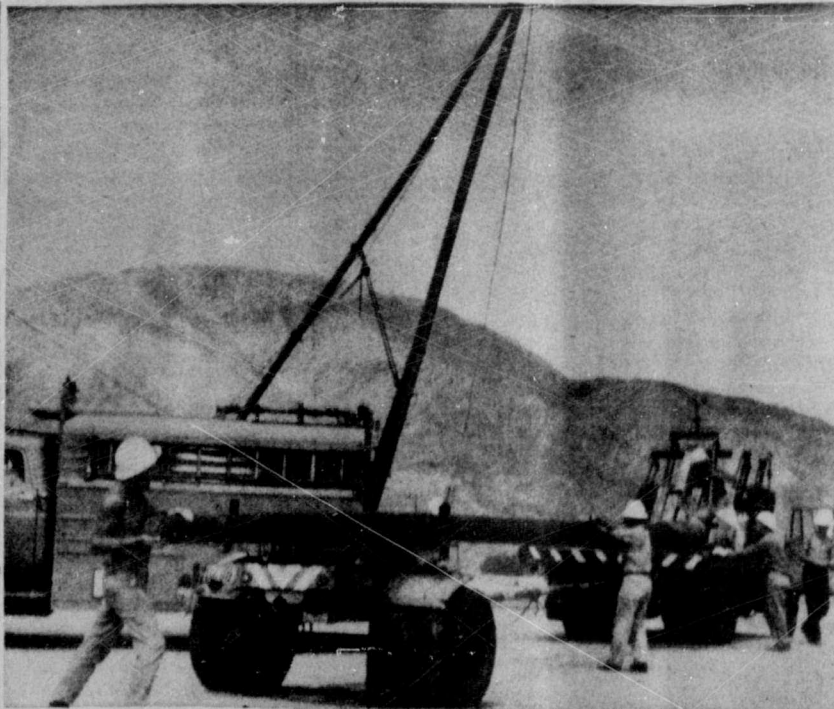

He was given a choice of a people's court and hanging or suicide by poison. Warned that the first choice would endanger his wife and son, he chose the poison and Hitler gave him a state funeral.

LAST PHONE POLES on the Palm Desert Drive frontage road came down Wednesday, as W. H. Dillard and his crew of California Water and Telephone Co. men took down the final five, loaded them for disposal. The telephone company reports many customers have asked for the old landmarks. Dillard, foreman on the job, worked in putting up some of the poles in 1926, when one house and customer was located in the Palm Desert area. (Desert Sun Photo)

BIRTH CONTROL MAY DO IT

San Francisco May Be Near Pigeon Solution

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Thirteen years ago a San Francisco supervisor remarked, "the first thing we know, this bird problem will never be solved."

He was talking about pigeons and, so far, he's been dead right.

But now San Francisco's pigeons, which have likened the city to St. Mark's Cathedral in Venice, may find their days in the public squares are numbered.

The ultimate solution may be birth control.

It's the latest proposal in a perennial anti-pigeon campaign waged by city officials and residents tired of having the birds besmirch public buildings and, occasionally, unwary pedestrians.

"It costs the city a fortune to keep the top of City Hall clean," a judge told a citizen on trial for feeding the pigeons.

This anti-feeding law was one of the things that a city official had in mind when he said some proposals "make San Francisco the nation's laughing stock."

The city ordinance against feeding pigeons in the street resulted in a parade of tourists appearing in court. It was repealed in 1957 as "unenforceable."

"We have enough silly laws on our books," said one lawmaker. "Why, I feed pigeons myself whenever I have peanuts in my pocket."

Other Measures Fail

Another drastic measure called for smearing building tops with a sticky substance in hopes of discouraging the birds from roosting. But public opinion rejected this as cruel because partly feathered pigeons later were found hobbling nearby, apparently victims of the sticky goo.

Another "sure-fire" cure was to install a pair of metal owls in Civic Center because they had been reported successful in other cities with pigeon problems.

But in San Francisco, the birds merely gave the ersatz owls a curious glance and the $97.90 ornaments were taken away.

Pigeon trapping with cages was abandoned 12 years ago after a six months trial when the city decided it was costing $1.43 to trap one bird, or more than $1,000 for 700 birds.

Destroy Eggs

Now another plan of trapping the birds is under consideration. The birds would be transported to a sanctuary outside the downtown area where they would be cared for, but their eggs would be destroyed to slow the pigeon population boom.

Friends of the Bird Guardian League have offered to raise $20,000 for such a sanctuary.

If this fails, then the next step is expected to be "birth control clinics," or outdoor feeding stations in the squares. The stations would contain pills or treated bird food designed to prevent the birth of pigeons.

Some officials think the whole thing should be forgotten.

Water Sought By Ribbonwood

RIVERSIDE — A notice from the State Water Rights Board that Ribbonwood Estates, Inc. has filed two applications to appropriate water for domestic purposes from unnamed springs tributary to an unnamed stream which flows via Palm Canyon to the Whitewater River and on to Salton Sea, was received by the Board of Supervisors and referred to county counsel.

According to the notice the water would be used in Ribbonwood developments on the north and south sides of the Palms to Pines Highway (74) in the Santa Rosa mountain area described legally as portions of Section 7 and 17, Township 7 South, Range 5 East.

The Coachella Valley County Water District has filed protests against both applications.

Scouts Sign Up For Camping At Idyllwild

IDYLLWILD — Four hundred and sixteen Scouts from 32 Scout troops of Riverside County have already signed up for the camping season at Camp Emerson, Idyllwild, which starts Sunday.

Post 38 of Norco and Post 90 of Riverside along with the camp staff will participate in the Explorer program next week. The first period for Scout Troop is July 23-29, and will be attended by Troop 76 of Palm Desert, and Troop 8 of Riverside.

There is still space for additional campers who may sign up with any Scoutmaster or at 2671 Iowa Avenue, Riverside.

Police Clerk Positions Open

Application for the position of female police clerk are now available and must be received by Wednesday, Police Chief August G. Kettmann announced today.

Applicants should be 25 to 45 years of age, at least high school graduates, a U. S. citizen, be able to type 45 words a minute, be in good health, have a valid California driver's license, and be able to work night shifts, the chief said.

Starting salary for the position is $310 a month with regular merit increases to $376 a month. Applications may be obtained from the Personnel Office at City Hall. Applicants will be required to take a three hour examination Thursday, July 20.

Saparitos Fly East on Work And Pleasure

Last Friday Mr. Alex Saporito (he owns the Palm Desert Liquor store), left Los Angeles flying TWA to New York City where he will spend about two weeks visiting with his family as well as transacting business while there. He will return home the 24th of this month.

Recent new-comer to Palm Desert, Mrs. Harriett A. Rigsby and her two children spent the past five days at their new home here on San Jacinto St. They now live in Fullerton but plan to spend as much time as possible here as they thoroughly enjoy desert living, even in the summer months.

Barbara Drive residents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sanders and her mother, Mrs. Cross, have taken their trailer to Idyllwild and will spend the month of July in this cool mountain resort.

After having vacationed in Scottsdale, Ariz., for a week, Elsie Minor and Hazel Kirk returned to their respective jobs this past week. Hazel left again for an extended vacation, with her mother Mrs. Nellie Kirk of Payette, Idaho who arrived here this past week end. They plan on staying a few days at Lake Tahoe and on thru Idaho where they will make numerous stops before arriving in Payette where they will be for some time visiting other relatives and friends. Mrs. Kirk will stay at her home here when Hazel returns to the desert the latter part of this month.

Alexander Co. Is Named for Award of Merit

For the third consecutive year, the Alexander Construction Co., ranking Palm Springs builders, has been accorded the Award of Merit of the American Institute of Architects, it was announced Thursday.

The award was made in recognition of the Alexander Construction Company's "outstanding contribution to homes for better living." The award, issued by the AIA in cooperation with House and Home and Life magazines, is regarded as the highest tribute available in the construction field.

Identical awards were made to the Alexander Construction Co. in 1959 and again in 1960. The 1961 award marks the first time an American construction firm has won the prized accolade for three straight years.

The award-winning home will be seen on the "Builders' Showcase" on Channel 11 at 1:45 p.m. Sunday, July 30.

coming $14,000,000 small boat harbor, announces some models available for immediate occupancy.

The charming homes by the Butler - Harbour Construction Co., Southern California winners of the Saturday Evening Post Blue Ribbon Award, are fully priced from $17,700.

They are located a short distance south of Laguna, near the ocean terminus of the Santa Ana Freeway. Many families have already moved into the first unit.

"Everyone who has moved in is delighted with these homes," said Gene Harding of Walker & Lee, sales agents. "Some are living here in this equable climate all year round, others are utilizing the homes as vacation and weekend hideaways."

Built-in gas ranges and ovens, dining bars, fireplaces as focal point of living rooms, sliding glass patio doors and in some plans paneled walls and beamed ceilings are among popular features.

Two furnished model homes may be visited daily. Turn right at the signs from Pacific Coast Highway less than a mile from the Santa Ana Freeway.

Nationally known products incorporated in the homes include Armstrong Vinyl and Asphalt Tile Floors, Masonite Siding, Flintkote Roofing and Johns Mansville pipe.

THE BROAD, ATTRACTIVE entrance to Palm City, Southern California's largest retirement community, is lined with desert palms, wildflowers and 50 state flags. The community, near Palm Springs, will eventually consist of 1,800 homes and apartments.

Scores Attracted to Palm City Retirement Community Project

By KEN REICH
Sun Staff Writer

"If we can sell these places in the summer, right in the heat of the day, with the houses just going up, think what we're going to do when fall comes and the first houses are completed," Marshall Secrest, developer of the Palm City retirement community, said this week.

Secrest, who is building the $30,000,000 project with Nels Severin of San Diego, appears justified in his optimism. Every day a score or more people arrive to look over the 568-acre development 16 miles south of Palm Springs and a mile and a half north of Highway 111 on Washington Blvd.

Despite temperatures ranging up to 120, they usually go away much impressed.

About 400 houses have already been sold by the sales staff, headed by Win Stipp. A number of own-your-own apartments are also available.

Palm City is specifically a community for the elderly and no one below the age of 50 is allowed to buy. Children under 17 are banned, according to present plans.

Classy Looking

With the recreational facilities and model houses completed and the first three holes of the 18 hole golf course near finished, interested parties get some idea of what the area will look like when complete, from personal observation, but must mostly rely on classy-looking sketches.

Prospective buyers enter the development via a palm tree-lined avenue decorated by the flags of the 50 states. Thus far buyers of the houses, priced from about $15,000 to $16,000 on easy terms, come from 20 different states.

At present 215 houses are in the process of construction, 113 are being started, and 80 will get under way soon. With 436 planned this year, a total number of 1,800 is eventually contemplated.

Unique Development

Palm City thus joins the growing list of spectacular desert housing developments, but is unique in that it is exclusively designed for the elderly. The developer's main appeal, advertisingwise, has been to the 500,000 senior citizens of Southern California.

The project is planned as a self-contained city, complete with a shopping center and medical building which are going in now. Negotiations are underway with a major oil company to locate a service station in the area too, Secrest said.

Recreation facilities include two swimming pools, the golf course, shuffleboard and croquet areas, and an auditorium seating up to 300.

Owners Have Say

The developers are creating a Palm City Homeowners Association which will eventually administer the recreation and other common facilities when the developers pull out in about two years.

Scheduled to be eventually elective, the Association will collect dues from homeowners amounting to an estimated $1 a month per person to defray its expenses.

A small number of administrative and maintenance personnel will be directed by the homeowners themselves through their association.

The Homeowner's Association is being modeled, Secrest said, on similar governing bodies set up for own-your-own apartment buildings in Los Angeles and other California cities.

Sun Bathing

An ideal sun bathing spot can be made by building a small wood deck around a shade tree, extending it so that one end is always in the sun. You can use 2x4 Douglas fir for the deck boards, and simple 2x6 fir framing members set on small concrete blocks.

WIRING UNLIMITED

Wiring is not limited to the outside of the home, not in this day of electric tools and gardening aids.

Home Finance Changes Reported To Palm Desert Realty Members

PALM DESERT — An easing in regulations covering home finance arrangements was reported to the Palm Desert Board of Realtors in a talk Monday by Ben Arnold.

Explaining new FHA changes, Arnold said down payments are now three per cent of the first $13,000, 10 per cent of the next $5,000 and 25 per cent on costs above $20,000.

On new construction the maximum term was changed from 30 to 35 years. Under certain hardship cases a maximum loan of 40 years may be obtained, Arnold said.

Survey Shows Gas Heat Gains

More homes are being heated with gas in the United States than ever before, according to the American Gas Association, which reports that an additional 1,171,000 customers installed gas heating last year.

There were 21,352,000 customers heating with gas at the close of 1960, an increase of 5.8 per cent over the previous year, according to A.G.A.'s annual gas house heating survey.

The survey predicted that in the three-year period ending in 1963, more than 3,564,000 new gas heating customers will be added.

New customers accounted for 62 per cent of the installations of gas heating in 1960. The remaining 38 per cent made conversions from other fuels in existing dwellings. The annual A.G.A. survey made this percentage breakdown nationally and by state for the first time.

Carob Trees Prove Ideal As Ornamentals in Desert

In writing on the origin of trees that show up in our desert we would advise Mr. Amateur Gardener to look at a Carob, trees that may be studied by taking a walk along the outside of Thunderbird Golf Course on Highway 111. The age of this tree is actually unknown, its name is mentioned in the Old Testament of the Bible; the pods that show up as the age of the tree becomes older are talked of as St. John's food. We consider the Carob as the cleanest tree and the easiest to trim into an umbrella shaped spread. It uses little water in comparison to other ornamental trees and seldom needs the use of a scarp to keep the basin clean. It is of Mediterranean origin as far as we can uncover and has been mentioned as a locust.

A stout perennial of the amaryllis family and native to Mexico as far as we can gather, is the Century plant. Its other name is Agave americana. The plant also takes the name of American aloe and agave. Inasmuch as the cultivation of the agave in Mexico far antedates the Spanish discovery of that country, and that it was introduced into Europe in 1561 we have no guidance as to its original origin.

In its growing stage the plant consists of a large rosette of long, fleshy, sharp-pointed, spiny-margined leaves. It is sometimes many years in attaining maturity, hence the misleading name century plant. At blossoming time it quickly develops a very tall and stout flowering stem, sometimes 30 feet high, surmounted with a huge panicle flowers. After flowering the seeds ripen and the whole visible plant withers and dies.

Pulque, the national beverage of the Mexicans, is made from the fermented sap, and, by distillation Mescal is produced. The maguey or Pita flax and the sisal hemp, both very valuable fibers used for cordage and binding twine, are obtained from very similar species. From this we might gather that agave and American aloe are more than useful.

To those who have plenty of spare time and an itch to dig deeper into agave and the aloe we would advise a visit to Woodward Murray Library, stationed at the corner of Tahquitz and Palm Canyon Drive. The books covering this and other readings have to be read in the library and not carried from the reading room set aside for this type of books. A full day of reading there would give the reader an incomplete amount of knowledge compared with the number of books and amount of contents those special books contain.

Hollyhocks are about finished for this year. Originally it was known as a perennial of the mallo family and was native to India. Today numerous varieties are much cultivated in this country and not hard to raise in our desert. In early days the Egyptians cultivated the hollyhock for its leaves, which, when young, was much used in Egyptian cookery.

Board Lowers PS Mansion Tax Valuation

RIVERSIDE — The Board of Supervisors, acting as a Board of Equalization, have agreed to a $3,490 reduction in the assessed valuation of a Palm Springs mansion replete with "ornate swimming pool and redundantly landscaped grounds."

The mansion, belonging to James S. Kemper of 345 Via Las Palmas, was described by Fourth District Supervisor George Berkeley as a "white elephant."

The supervisors gave the "factor of marketability" as the reason for their agreeing to the reduction, which was however, substantially less than Kemper had requested.

A request by F. Edward Little, attorney representing Kemper, for a reduction in the assessed valuation of another piece of property on Palm Canyon Dr. at Merito Vista was turned down.

Builders See Africa Profit

NEW YORK (UPI)—While they are waiting for a big upturn in housing demand in the United States, American home builders could pick up some fine profits in the African nation of Nigeria, Minister of Finance F.S. Okotie-Eboh said today.

Chief Okotie-Eboh is one of a 23-man Nigerian economic mission that recently arrived in the United States on a trip around the world seeking new enterprises for Nigeria.

Nigeria needs housing because the country is booming and the government of the western region of Nigeria is offering some tempting inducements to foreign builders.

These include tax relief for up to five years, full permission to repatriate dividends and profits from the completed projects, and government funds in amounts of $25,000 to $140,000 on individual projects. Although Nigeria is financially a small country, it spent more than $50 million on slum clearance in its 1959-60 budget.

Nigeria has plenty of building materials and plenty of labor for the building trades, Chief Okotie-Eboh said. There are modern factories making plywood, cement, asbestos cement board, metal windows and prefab building frames.

MURIEL FULTON, director, left, and Theresa Press, president, proudly admire the Charter just received from the National Association of Real Estate Boards which makes the Palm Springs board a national one. The local board, formerly known as the Palm Springs Real Estate Board, will now be known as the Palm Springs Board of Realtors. Starting out with nine members in 1930, the organization now boasts over 120 actives.

Increasing Tax Proposals Pose Real Estate Threat

By THERESA PRESS
Palm Springs Board of Realtors

As a taxpayer, do you want the ever-increasing tax base — construction of new buildings—which pays a big share of your local tax load, penalized so that your own taxes would increase?

As an investor, do you want the opportunity to put the money you save into income-producing property whittled away?

Of course not. Yet this is precisely what is being proposed to the Congress of the United States.

What Is It All About?
The Treasury Department is urging the Congress to increase substantially the tax on the gain from the sale of income-producing real estate. Under the present law (in effect for almost thirty years) the capital gains rate (25 per cent) is applied to the gain. Now the Treasury wants to jump the rate to the higher ordinary tax rates to the extent of the depreciation deductions taken on the property.

The change would jump the rate to 52 per cent in most cases.

Property affected includes apartments, rental housing, office buildings, stores, shopping centers, motels, resorts, industrial buildings, filling stations, redevelopment projects and all other types of investment properties in which people can invest their savings.

Some Economic Facts
Almost 30 years ago, the capital gains feature was written into the tax laws. In 1954, an accelerated feature was added to encourage more building. The incentive worked—and worked well.

It opened an opportunity for anyone to invest in income-producing property.

Commercial and industrial building shot up. Expenditures for commercial building jumped from $2,212,000,000 in 1954 to $4,072,000,000 in 1960. Combined with industrial construction, the figures jumped from $4,242,000,000 to almost $7,000,000,000 in 1960.

What Does This Mean?
New building is the priceless ingredient for expanding communities, for redeveloping our cities, for a growing America. Without it, we stand still — or fall backwards. What would Palm Springs be today were it not for its new building and rebuilding? What is the future of Palm Springs without more and more income-producing property?

Economically, new building means jobs. Consider the construction permits issued in Palm Springs and figure the payroll involved. It means jobs for many others supplying and servicing construction: still others in operating. New building means added dollar value to our Valley — a broader tax base to share the load. It means the opportunity for anyone to invest in income-producing property.

Not A Tax Problem
If the incentive to invest in income-producing property is removed, what happens? The answer is obvious. Stagnation. Or at the least, a drastic slow-down in construction.

The proposed change in the capital gains tax rate for income-producing property is not a matter of tax equity or inequity, or even of taxation theory. It is a question of whether we want new construction and improvement of cities to continue at its present beneficial rate. It is a question of whether we want to encourage investment. Or discourage it.

It is a question as to whether we want to erect a roadblock to progress or whether we want to build a better America.

The proposed change is now under consideration by the Congress. Tell your Congressman and your Senators (you can call, write, or wire) that you are opposed to the proposed change in the capital gains on the sale of real estate.

ATTIC FAN BOON

Thinking of an attic fan for real summer comfort? If your house has an attic, you can build a fan into the partition wall, for example. If your home has a flat roof, "attic" fan can be mounted on the roof line protected by a cupola.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Somehow, the film and tape starbursts now cascading from nighttime TV's reruns rockets fail to draw oohs and aahs from this tube-scanner. And even if the missile fizzles, nothing else on TV fizzes with so much brightness and style. The first king-size pinwheel was CBS-TV's "Look Up and Live," which began a series titled, "As Seen From The Stage." I recommend this summer series to viewers interested, among other things, in hearing brief contributions from and about the theater's newest and oldest voices.

THE DESERT SUN Page 9

It's Time for a Change

There IS something wrong.

With all the money raised for health, welfare and charitable organizations outside this city, it is a downright shame that our local agencies are inadequately supported.

These Palm Springs youth and community welfare agencies depend entirely on the Community Chest for their operational needs. They cannot look elsewhere. Without these essential community functions Palm Springs would not be a very desirable place to live — yet these vital agencies have to curtail their activities because the Community Chest campaign this year ended up 25 per cent short. Bear in mind also that much of the services performed by these agencies is carried on by volunteers who ask no pay.

This is a good time to look into the problem — to try and find out what is wrong. Something must be done before the time rolls around for another Chest campaign.

For the past several years the Community Chest campaign has dragged out over weeks — even months — overlapping many other fund raising efforts. The need for a well-organized, concentrated drive that reaches every resident and business or professional firm in the city is quite apparent.

Those in charge of the Chest campaigns have been civic-minded volunteers and we are not unmindful of their efforts. It is just that they should be assisted by a much larger group of individual workers, probably ten times as many. Then too, the unsuccessful attempt to combine local and national drives in a United Fund hurt the Community Chest appeal.

For several years after the Palm Springs Community Chest was organized the drives were quite successful. The one which Kenneth Kirk headed several years ago is a good example. A large group of volunteer workers was organized well in advance. During the drive they scoured the town and met every morning to report the results. They raised the quota in about a week! Many will recall having worked on those successful campaigns of earlier years.

First — and above all — Palm Springs must provide for its youth, health and community welfare agencies. It is a responsibility of every citizen and no time should be lost in seeing to it that the job is done adequately and with dispatch.

(Christian Science Monitor)

With virtually every session of Congress the benefits paid under the Social Security Act become — to paraphrase an expression by Alice in Wonderland — "generous-er and generous-er." It would indeed be "curiouser and curiouser" if this process could go on indefinitely.

If the amendments just signed by President Kennedy, the Senate and House have recognized that there will be additional costs and that these should be met with new revenue. They have added one-fourth of 1 per cent (half on employers, half on employees) to the 6 per cent now collected on earnings up to $4,800.

Will not the gradual rise of these payroll taxes reach a point which represents as high a percentage of the national product as is suitable to allocate for retirement and welfare purposes? If so, the broadening of benefits must some time taper off.

One change introduces an element of flexibility which may have uncertain results. This is the provision allowing men as well as women to retire on a reduced benefit at age 62 instead of 65. This earlier retirement stretches the span over which a limitation on earnings applies. Will there then be increased pressure to permit partial self-support and to keep useful people at work during this period?

Or might there be value in graduating the scale both ways from 65, and providing a slight reward in increased payments for those who work to a later retirement age?

JULY 14, 1951

The City Council for 1951-52 was approved without change from the preliminary budget and the amount held needed for city functions other than operation of Welwood Murray Memorial Library was fixed at $239,426. Library costs were set at $17,911.

Palm Springs was the first city in Riverside County to exceed its goal in the Riverside-San Bernardino Community Blood Bank building fund drive. C. W. Dutton announced $4,200 was pledged to the local treasury which was headed by Fred Ingram and Mrs. Betty Hamilton.

JULY 14, 1941

The new city ambulance is here and will be ready for service as soon as it is painted white to correspond to the Fire Department's other equipment. Lions Club President Merrill Crockett turned over $650 raised by the club in full payment for the vehicle to Keith Farrar of the Indio Mortuary.

"A Woman's Face," one of the ten best pictures of 1941, starring Joan Crawford and Melvyn Douglas, was billed at Palm Springs Theatre.

JULY 14, 1931

A delegation that jammed the supervisors room appeared to demand tax reduction in Riverside County, but they were informed that most of the high taxes were voted in past years by people themselves and appreciable reduction was not possible.

Business depression and summer heat were said to have no effect on the Palm Springs Water Co. as the installation of 3,800 feet of 14-inch mains and 4,000 feet of 10-inch mains was carried out on schedule. The new mains in Palm Canyon Drive were held vital to fire protection.

Dear Abby . . .

. . . by Abigail VanBuren

DEAR ABBY: You've got to help me out of this mess. I am a married man with a family. I was laid off my regular job, so I took a job in another state. I got mixed up with a young girl there. I didn't tell her I was married. I did a foolish thing and gave her an "engagement" ring. I must have been nuts.

She told me last Friday she is in a family way, and we have to get married right away. I can't marry her because I am already married. I know her father, and I'm afraid he will kill me. If I run out on her and am caught, will they put me in jail. My job pays good money, and I don't want to leave town. How do I get out of this mess?

STUPID AND MESSED UP
DEAR STUPID: I doubt if you'll be lucky enough to get into a nice, safe jail. Tell your girl friend about your wife. Then tell your wife about your girl friend. Then tell a lawyer about both of them. And pray.

DEAR ABBY: How do you stop a grown man of 24 from licking his plate? Yes, Abby. This husband of mine (and father of two children) just loves to lick his plate. He does it all in fun, and to show me what a good cook I am, but the children are going to start to imitate him. Any suggestions would be appreciated.

DOTTIE

DEAR DOTTIE: If your great big over-grown boy doesn't stop licking his plate — give HIM a licking.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I traveled 1,200 miles to visit some relatives we hadn't seen in 30 years. We were quite surprised to see how they were living. We knew they weren't rich, but you don't have to be rich to be clever.

We were put up in an attic "guest room" and roaches and bedbugs had run the place over. Some bugs got into our clothes and suitcases. We were polite and stayed out the week. We invited them to return the visit, but we don't want them in our home because they might bring the bugs with them. Would it be rude to put them up at a motel even though we have a nice unoccupied guest room at home?

COUNTRY COUSINS
DEAR COUNTRY COUSINS: Put them up at a motel and offer no apologies. (P.S. You must be itching to see these people again.)

What's bothering you? For a personal reply, write to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. Include a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

This Side of The Sun

By R. F. 'Phat' Graettinger

You need a thick skin in writing this stuff.
The mail can be nice, also mighty rough.

One reason I do not like Sundays or holidays is that on those days the mail man stays home to cool his feet and the slot in the screen door isn't stuffed full of various items.

Advertising, propaganda, appeals for this or that charity, bills, magazines, newspapers and letters.

THE LATTER I grab first and pick out those which do not have "Mrs." before the name. Those which bear a Palm Springs postmark or from another desert community, get first call.

I wish there was some way I could tell what was inside before tearing them open.

Then I could read those containing carping criticism first and the nice ones, if any, as a sort of dessert.

BUT I READ THEM all for even the nasty ones might contain the germ of an idea which could be blown up to 600 words and thus take care of the day's chores.

Like the one from Cathedral City in response to my comments on the hospital sojourn: "Man, when I get you back to the desert, I'm going to back you up against the wall between desks where you can't get away, hold you there and tell you about MY operation."

WHY PICK on California drivers? asks a Villager.

"Sure, the statistics showed more deaths on our highways than any other state, 'one-tenth of the nation's total' as you said.

"But if you figured it percentage-wise, we wouldn't be first. There are so many more autos on our good highways so that if you figured it by deaths per 1,000 cars traveling the roads, there'd be many states ahead of us.

YOU ARE JUST PLAIN nuts was the uncouth beginning of a third missive.

"Why say we need a minimum law in this state?"

"If I want to go 25 miles an hour and enjoy the brief glimpses of the scenery between billboards, I've got a right to."

(And I bet he crawls along in the left lane next to the dividing strip.)

YOU KNOW, I dragged the other day about reading every local item, including the ads, in each day's issue of The Sun. But the one story I missed was about me being hors d'oeuvre (that's French for "flat on my back.")

So I wondered how the news was bruited about that I was temporarily incapacitated, when I got all of those "get well" cards, some even forwarded back from Chicago.

And I want to thank all who bought cards and spent money for stamps to mail them.

Even for those cards which were slightly insulting.

VETERAN SERVICE was celebrated for California Electric Power Co. manager Francis Crocker as his wife pinned on his 35 year's service emblem, with encouragement from Frank Lucking, left, company commercial vice president, and Robert Neuman, vice president in charge of operating districts. Crocker has been active in civic as well as business development here. (Desert Sun Photo)

COMMUNITY LEADER

Crocker Honored Upon Cal Electric Retirement

Mountains and deserts have played important roles in the life of Francis Crocker, Palm Springs community leader and district manager of California Electric Power Company's Palm Springs district.

And Crocker in turn has left his imprint on the mountains and deserts of California in a number of ways. Many years ago he broke trail into some of the rugged country on the eastern slopes of the High Sierra, found a lake and named it. More recently he has realized a 16-year-long dream—the start of work on a tram from the desert up the slopes of Mt. San Jacinto.

As a surveyor for Cal Electric 31 years ago, Crocker traveled hundreds of miles of desert laying out the routes for transmission lines which today provide power for a growing inland Southern California.

And in Palm Springs, during his 29 years in this city, he has contributed in numerous ways to the physical, economic and cultural growth of the area.

Tuesday, Cal Electric's Palm Springs district employees gathered at the Town and Country Restaurant in this city to pay tribute to Crocker and help him celebrate the completion of 35 years service with the utility — 29 years of which he has spent in Palm Springs.

On hand to present him with his 35-year service award was Robert Neuman, vice president of Cal Electric. Other Cal Electric associates who made the trip from Cal Electric's general office to Palm Springs to salute Crocker were Frank Lucking, commercial vice president, and Rosamond Harries, supervising cashier.

Crocker, 61, has been witness to and participant in the growth which has seen Palm Springs develop from a relatively unknown desert community to one of the nation's most famous resorts.

When Crocker first arrived in Palm Springs in 1932 to become local agent "we had about 600 electric accounts and that included Cabazon, Whitewater and Cathedral City in addition to Palm Springs," Crocker reminisced.

Today there are over 15,000 electric service accounts in Cal Electric's Palm Springs district.

During his 29 years in Palm Springs, Crocker has served with a number of civic bodies whose activities have contributed to the development of the city in many ways.

As a member of the Welwood Murray Memorial Library board (he is now chairman), he participated in the effort that resulted in the construction of a modern library for the city. As secretary of the Palm Springs Field Club he played an active role in the development of the Polo Grounds.

He served for six years on the Palm Springs elementary school board and for a short period on the high school board. He served six years on the city planning commission (at one time as chairman) and was a member of the group responsible for the incorporation of Palm Springs. He was also an active member of the organizing committee that raised money for the construction of a hospital in Palm Springs.

But today Crocker is probably best known in Palm Springs as the "father of the tram" — a project on which he has worked and pushed for 25 years. The idea of constructing a tram from the floor of the Coachella Valley to the top of Mt. San Jacinto was first brought to Crocker's attention in 1935. He spent long hours at research and studying topographic maps and selected as the most suitable route for a tram, Chino Canyon — a route which he proudly points out is still the choice.

Talked It Up

Crocker "spent three years talking up the project" and eventually his efforts led to the formation of a committee which raised funds for an engineering study of the feasibility of constructing a tramway.

A favorable engineering report resulted in state legislation in the early 1940's that established the Mt. San Jacinto Winter Park Authority.

Despite a series of delays and obstacles, Crocker's dream of the tram became a reality on July 7 of this year when sale of $7,550,000 worth of bonds to pay for construction was completed.

Crocker's first encounter with mountains was in Colorado where he participated in a re-survey of the Cripple Creek mining area in the Rocky Mountains. At the time he was an engineering student at the University of Colorado which he entered after attending elementary and high school in Denver where he was born.

Before becoming permanently associated with Cal Electric in 1926, Crocker worked during the summer as a part-time employee and it was during that period — in 1922 — that he had his second encounter with mountains — this time the rugged eastern slopes of the towering Sierra Nevada (High Sierra) in which Cal Electric's hydroelectric generating plants are located.

Much of the rugged area above Bishop Creek near Bishop was unoccupied at that time and one of Crocker's first jobs with Cal Electric was to climb into the towering mountains to survey lakes whose overflow provided water to turn the turbine-generators in the electric company's hydro plants at lower elevations.

"We would start out at day break and climb until about 11 a. m. Then we'd survey until about 3 p. m. and then start the long climb back down," Crocker recalls.

It was during one of the surveying trips that Crocker came on "a good sized lake" which was not shown on any of the then existing maps. Crocker named the lake "Rhuwau" in honor of two Cal Electric engineers, Clarence Rhu and E. J. Waugh.

The lake still bears the name Crocker gave it.

Desert Meeting
Crocker's encounter with California deserts was just as personal as one as his experience with mountains.

He lugged a surveyor's transit "from Yermo to Las Vegas" (on the Mojave Desert) twice while heading up a survey crew laying out the route for a Cal Electric line to Hoover Dam.

"We moved fast in those days," Crocker recalls, "and on one occasion surveyed the sites for five miles of transmission towers in one day. We made our final surveys by lighted matches from the cliffs overlooking the dam and then had to pick our way back down in pitch dark."

Crocker today remains an active and positive force in the life of Palm Springs. He lives at 147 South Tahquitz with his wife Rosalie and two children. The Crockers have four other grown children and four grandsons.

He's waiting today for the completion of the Mt. San Jacinto tram and a ride to the top for a more modern and mechanized encounter with mountains than his earlier day encounters.

LETTER

Editor
The Desert Sun

Dear Sir,
We, the working people of Palm Springs, wish to thank the city officers for their most wonderful cooperation in helping us to get the unemployment office to Palm Springs permanently in October.

Several weeks ago I spoke to Mr. Charles Kasmer (Administrative Assistant to the City Manager) and he assured me that a special letter went out to Sacramento.
For many years I've been working with many of the Councilmen to help. I can assure you that Mr. Nelson of the Indio Unemployment office tried hard to help us too and we are very grateful to him.

We want to thank the Desert Sun for all they have done to help us too.

Dodgers, Giants Take Wins

Dodgers Top Phils With 7-2

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Johnny Podres, recovered from a shoulder injury, tonight goes after his fourth straight win of the season over the Philadelphia Phillies at the Coliseum.

Thursday night Stan Williams found his winning stride after five incomplete starts to pitch the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 7-2 victory over the cellar-dwelling Phillies.

Podres, 32, will be opposed to tonight by John Buzhardt, 2-10, known as one of the hard throwing hurlers in the game.

The injury-riddled Dodgers may have to put veteran first baseman Gil Hodges behind the plate if catcher John Roseboro's bruised knuckles swell up.

Short on Catchers
Roseboro was hit on the knuckles several times Thursday night and the Dodgers said they would not know if he could play until game time. With Norm Sherry on the disabled list and catching replacement Doug Camilli still recovering from having been beamed at Spokane, only Hodges was left with any catching experience.

Manager Walt Alton said the three-day layoff for the All-Star Game had aided the Dodgers who bunched their hits to gain their 12th victory of the season over the Phillies against the one loss. The win, however, still left the Dodgers five games behind the Cincinnati Reds who also won.

Cupit, Lema In Canadian Leads

WINNIPEG (UPI)—Jackie Cupit Longview, Tex., and Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., shared the lead with five-under-par 135's as the $30,000 Canadian Open golf championship entered the third round today.

The two younger pros battled rain and wind for the second day in a row over the 6,419-yard Niskawuna Country Club course Thursday to reach the halfway point with a one shot lead over four other youthful pros—Joe Campbell, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Dave Hill, Denver, Colo.; Tom Nieporte, Bronxville, N.Y.; and Jon Gustin, Gladwyne, Pa.

Cupit, one of the brightest rookie pros to hit the tour since Arnold Palmer and Gene Littler, had rounds of 66-69.

Training Set

NEW YORK (UPI)—Florentino Fernandez of Cuba will fly to Utah early next week to begin training for his middleweight title fight with co-champion Gene Fullmer at Ogden, Aug. 5. Fullmer is the National Boxing Association's 160-pound titleholder.

Handicap Field Up

NEW YORK (UPI)—Apostle 2nd, winner of his last four stakes races on the British circuit, has been added to the field for the $100,000 Man O' War Handicap at Aqueduct on July 29.

Maris, Mantle Homer

YANKS GAIN 1ST ON 6-2 WIN OVER SOX

Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle—sometimes kiddingly called the "daily double"—paid off again in their typical 1-2 fashion to put the New York Yankees in front of that first-place cashier's window today.

Maris and Mantle didn't waste any time picking up right where they left off before the All-Star break.

Maris hits his 34th home run with one on in the first inning against the Chicago White Sox Thursday night and Mantle promptly followed with the 350th homer of his career and his 30th of the season.

The two sluggers collected six hits between them and each drove in two runs in a 6-2 victory that moved the onrushing Yankees into first place, four percentage points ahead of the idle Detroit Tigers.

The Yankees, who routed Early Wynn with a four-run rally in the opening frame, have now won 10 of their last 12 games. Billy Stafford won his eighth game against four defeats, yielding homers to Sherm Lollar and reliever Frank Baumann, before departing in favor of lefty Luis Arroyo in the seventh.

Boston Edges Orioles
In other American League action, Boston beat Baltimore, 3-2, and Minnesota downed Cleveland, 9-6. Rain washed out the Kansas City-Washington game.

Cincinnati maintained its five-game lead in the National League race with a 4-3 victory over Chicago, Los Angeles beat Philadelphia, 7-2. Milwaukee defeated St. Louis, 6-3, and San Francisco edged Pittsburgh, 2-1.

Rookie Don Schwall posted his eighth victory for the Red Sox with Mike Fornieles' help in the ninth when the Orioles threatened. Ted Lepico's grand slam homer in the first inning capped a five-run rally by the Twins that paced them to their victory over the Indians.

Frank Robinson of the Reds hit his 24th homer in the seventh inning to tie the score at 3-all and then drove in the winning run against the Cubs in the ninth with an infield out that scored Don Blasingame.

Williams Sparks Rally
A three-run double by pitcher Stan Williams was the big blow in a six-run fourth inning that carried the Dodgers to their victory over the Phillies. Victim of the rally was Art Mahaffey, who never has beaten the Dodgers yet and has lost to them four times this season.

Rookie outfielder Mack Jones, fresh up from Louisville, made his bow with Milwaukee by collecting a double and three singles against St. Louis. Joe Adcock also helped along with his 15th homer that didn't do anything; to cheer Johnny Keane, making his home debut as Cardinal manager.

Willie Mays' 24th homer in the eighth inning off Bob Friend settled matters between the Giants and Pirates.

Phones Ring Sands 4-0 For 1st Win

Cellar-dwelling Telephone Company reared up last night behind the four-hit pitching of Mike Dille to register its first win of the Desert Softball League season at the Polo Grounds by a score of 4-0 over Massey Rock and Sand.

The Phonemen scored three runs in the first frame and one more in the second and then hung on the rest of the way against a variety of Massey offensive threats.

Dille, though he failed to strike out a man, a rarity in softball, was in good control most of the way en route to his shutout. He had lots of defensive help from a specially alert group of infielders in the well-played game.

Massey only got two men as far as third base in the contest, but did load the bases with only one out in the bottom of the seventh. At this time Robert Valdivia was forced out at home and Paul Dunn, a .458 hitter, popped up to the catcher to end the threat.

Singles by Al Stucher and Dino Di Grandi sparked the Phonemen's three run rally in the first and Di Grandi's single plus Tom Pollock's first hit of the year led to the run in the second.

Mays' HR Sets 2-1 Giants Win

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Manager Alvin Dark, all smiles now that his San Francisco Giants have put two wins together, maintained today that the umpiring crew headed by Frank Dascoli is a "fine group" even if it did boot three of his men off the field Thursday.

"Don't go blasting the umpires," Dark said to the reporters while aglow from a 2-1 win over the Pittsburgh Pirates which Willie Mays engineered with a home run in the eighth inning. "This is a good bunch."

Mays' eighth inning homer off Bob Friend may have had something to do with Alvin's charitable mood. Before that, he had spent almost as much time on the field as on the bench while Jim Davenport, Willie McCovey and first base coach Whitey Lockman got the thumb in two separate beefs.

Davenport left before the third inning started while still hollering at plate umpire Frank Dascoli over a called third strike.

McCovey and Lockman were thumbed out in the seventh after Willie protested a foul call by first base umpire Tony Venzon on his long smash over the right field barrier. Venzon said afterward that McCovey "brushed him" but Willie seemed to give the arbiter a rather healthy shove.

Ironically, Ferrell Bowman went in to hit for McCovey with the count three and two, connected for a single and scored the tying run on Jim Marshall's pinch single.

Tonight, Dark will send Jack Sanford (4-5) moundward to face Joe Gibbon, a lefty with a 7-4 record.

Mays emerged as the real hero of a confused contest which also saw Marshall running into third baseman Don Hoak during the seventh and knocking the wind out of the tough third baseman. Earlier in this frame, Marshall had drawn a squawk from second baseman Bill Mazeroski who claimed that Jim flicked his glove with his foot while advancing to second on Joe Amalfitano's grounder.

Complaints Shelved
All complaints were rendered null and void, however, when Mays led off the eighth by hoisting one of Bob Friend's serves over the left field fence despite a strong headwind.

Sports In Brief

ROYAL OAK, Mich. (UPI)—The semifinals of the U.S. Amateur Public Links golf championship get underway today with a decided NCAA flavor.

Three of the four remaining challengers for the crown are college golfers while the other is a 40-year-old Navy commander.

Medalist Dick Sikes, a 21-year-old from Wichita, Kan., was pitted against John Schlee, Seaside, Ore., a 22-year-old member of the Memphis State golf team, in today's first 36-hole semifinal match.

ST. LOUIS UPI—The United States Davis Cup team, already favorites, picked up an additional advantage Thursday in the draw which matched Bernard "Tut" Barten, Dallas, against Eduardo Zuleta in the first singles match of the American zone semi-final against Ecuador here today.

ABOARD THE COAST GUARD CUTTER DEXTER EN ROUTE TO HONOLULU UPI—The 72-foot Ticonderoga appeared to be pulling away from the field in the 22nd biennial transpacific yacht race today.

The "Big Ti" gained 23 miles over the early pace-setter and her nearest rival Sirius II during the past 24 hours.

INGLEWOOD UPI—A new star of the turf may emerge from the 22nd running of the $162,100 Hollywood Gold Cup Saturday from a wide open field of 14 contenders.

The sidelining of Prove It and T.V. Lark early in the Hollywood Park meeting left the handicap division without a single solid choice for the race and resulted in the big field, second largest in the history of the gold cup.

LONG BEACH UPI—A group of 32 players headed by Jerry Barber advanced today in the second day of play in the $5,000 Southern California Professional Match Play Tournament at the recreation park course. Included is Tommy Jacobs, Palm Springs.

PHILADELPHIA UPI—The title aspirations of heavyweight contender Charles (Sonny) Liston, already shaken by two brushes with the law, hung in the balance today at a show-cause hearing before the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission.

The 26-year-old boxer, who hired a "clean" manager to aid his title chances only to put them in jeopardy by running afoul of the law, must explain why his license should not be lifted for apparently failing to conduct himself as a "peaceful, law abiding citizen."

CHICAGO UPI—Fifty-six of last season's greatest collegiate football stars began training on the Northwestern University campus Thursday for their Aug. 4 clash with the world champion Philadelphia Eagles.

September Song

STENGEL CONSIDERS CLUB PILOT OFFER

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Mr. Charles Dillon (Casey) Stengel, the double-talk flowing as smoothly as wine, takes the floor:

"Why should I go back to managing? Just so people can call me stupid? Well, I don't know. I like my job at the bank. But too many newsmen and photographers bother me asking me what I do. I just tell them I stand in front of the vault because that's where the money is."

"Now about managing. That (Warren) Spahn came to the old Boston Braves just a couple of years too late for me. I had to manage seven different teams before I got to the Yankees and made a go of it. If I had had a guy like Spahn with me at Boston right from the start I'd be a success all the time."

"Now the best manager in the American League is Paul Richards."

"Do you know that one time I could have bought Joe Cronin (American League president) for $3,000. He wasn't any good in the minors and nobody wanted him. Then look what happened as soon as he hit the majors. He finally was sold for something like a quarter of a million dollars."

"Now my wife has a bad back. Just got out of the braces. When I had a bad back she used to rub it for me. Now she expects me to rub her back."

"Well, sir. Anybody asks me if I like baseball must be crazy. I was in the game for 51 years—and I wouldn't have stayed there if I didn't like it."

"I managed Oakland in the Pacific Coast League before I went to the Yankees. We drew 630,000 one season—more than the

McBride Braces Latman Tonight; Rigney Sees 40

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Ken McBride, 8-5, goes to the mound tonight for the Los Angeles Angels against undefeated Cleveland Indians hurler Barry Latman, who has eight wins.

The Angels lost 3-0 to the Toronto Maple Leafs Thursday night in an abbreviated game called by rain after 4 innings.

Tonight's contest starts the second half of the season and Angel manager Bill Rigney is talking of winning 40 games in the final 76. If the Seraphs take 40 games it would leave them at season's end with a total of 75 wins.

Only four games remain in the current road trip. Rigney and general manager Fred Haney were expected to decide today whether to call up Bob Rodgers, a young catcher with the team's Dallas-Ft. Worth club who's currently batting .300.

Palmer Battles 1 Stroke

BIRKDALE, England (UPI)—Arnold Palmer, one of golf's best stretch "runners," entered the final 36-hole grind of the British Open championship today only one stroke behind the deadlocked leaders, Dai Rees of Wales and Harold Henning of South Africa.

Palmer was scheduled to tee off for the third round this morning with defending champion Kel Nagle of Australia, who shared second place. They reached the halfway mark of the 72-hole tournament Thursday with 143 totals.

Rees, the 48-year-old captain of Britain's Ryder Cup team, and Henning were listed to tee off five minutes after Palmer and Nagle.

Paul Runyan, the world Seniors champion from La Jolla, Calif., was the only other Yank who qualified for today's final two rounds. He had a 36-hole total of 132—10 strokes off the pace.

Palmer was hopeful he could make up his one-stroke deficit in the morning round and then wear down Rees and Henning in the final round over the Royal Birkdale course this afternoon.

Drysdale Says Hit Not Aimed; Acts In TV

CHATHSWORTH, Calif. (UPI)—Don Drysdale, who was detached for five days from the Los Angeles Dodgers' payroll because he threw a ball that hit Cincinnati's Frank Robinson, is working today as a "bad guy" in a Western television film but he says he's not mad at anyone.

Drysdale was fined $100 and suspended for five days by National League President Warren Giles because of the beanball incident last Sunday. Taken off the payroll under league rules, he figures to lose about $1,200. He is reported to get $35,000 a year from the Dodgers.

The 6-foot-6 hurler, silent since the incident, took the opportunity Thursday to tell his side of the story on location at a ranch near here.
